'Tape' Brings Family Reunion

LONDON (UPI)—A jailed mother is going to be allowed to talk to her nine-year-old son by tape recording from her cell in London's Holloway jail.

The innovation, approved by Home Secretary R. A. Butler over the protests of the prison's governor, is designed to help mother and son get to know each other before her release later this year. They have been separated for six years.

Lots of Fun For 1,500 At Roundup

By BERT BINNY

"Square dancing is fun!" This is the first rule that all square dancers learn.

Some 1,500 of them gathered at the Memorial Arena last night for the sixth annual roundup showed they understood the rule thoroughly. They had barrels of fun.

Represented were dancers from Greater Victoria and district, dancers of every size and age and all full of color and vitality.

There were Kalico Kickers, Frontier Twirlers, Stampeders, Let's Dance Club, Spinning Stars, Country Cousins, Gingham Rustlers, Double D's, Squarenaders, Wagon Wheelers, Trail Blazers, Promenaders, Broken Spokes, Western Whirlers, Silver Spurs, Circle Stars, Triple C's, Hix-n-Chix, Jeans and Bonnets, Squarecrows, Hoedowners and Checkerboard Squares.

Plus the youthful Alma Squares and Colwood Square Wheels.

They manager to get in 16 square dances, seven specialities, a grand march and two floor shows.

And—one of the reasons for the whole shindig—they witnessed the "branding ceremony" when "Mrs. Square Dance," Alice Mooney, duly branded incoming president John Fairweather, who succeeded Fred Conconi.

The first floor show was a "square dance pantomime" by the Alma Squares and Colwood Square Wheels while, in the second, the Mount View High School dancers paced smartly through two Ukrainian dances, "Hopak" and "Kolomyka," and rounded off their performance with their "Mount View Special" square dance.

There was live music throughout the evening by the "Hometowners" and the callers employed were Mark Coppinger, Orville Nikirk, Joan Bolster, Dawn Draper, Curly Crawford, Hud Graham, Will Deacon, Bob Swailes, Ernie Livesey, Vic Busa, Norm Williams, Howard Eames, Archie Mair, Art Bolster and Cam York.

Solution Sought

Food Stall Has Good 'Final' Day

The surplus food stall in City Public Market held a very successful stall day yesterday, stall convener Mrs. E. E. Harper reported.

But it could be the final free food distribution.

"It was quite an unusual day in the way of financial help," Mrs. Harper said. "We had enough to give roasts of beef to the large families, sausages to the smaller ones, and vegetables all around."

This, however, could be the last stall day as the food stall is in the condemned market building, and as a result will soon be without a home.

Anyone who can offer a solution to the problem is asked to contact Mrs. Harper at GR 4-1750.

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP) — Slain burglar Jerry Myles, six-time loser from Butte and a leader in Montana's prison uprising, typed his own epitaph.

A blood-stained card was found close to his body in a cell-house tower of his last ditch stands. It said:

"Nary a word said o'er my grave,
Not a soul to rant and rave;
No market of errant past,
An individualist to the last.
By Jerryl Myles."

Armed Troops Save Convicts' Hostages

Storming of Prison Ends Violent Revolt

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP)—National guardsmen rescued 21 hostages from rioting convicts at Montana state prison early Saturday with a surprise attack that climaxed 36 hours of rebellion.

The end came 2¼ hours after the guardsmen stormed the prison under cover of bazooka, machine-gun and rifle fire.

The riot started Thursday afternoon with one prison official's death and ended with the murder and suicide of two mutiny leaders. Two guardsmen were wounded, neither severely.

NONE INJURED

Within a minute after the attack started, guardsmen reached the 21 hostages whose lives had been threatened by hanging, knifing, fire and other violence. None was injured.

The mutinous ringleaders, burglar Jerry Myles, 44, and murderer Lee Smart, 19, lay dead in the prison's northwest tower. Three other convicts were holed up in the tower.

Among the hostages were five convicts labelled "stool pigeons" by the riot leaders. The rest were guards. Two other hostages were released Friday.

BRAGGART'S WHIMS

Prison sociologist Walter Jones, 24, himself one of the hostages, said he warned the hostage group to be prepared for the snap whims of convict leader Jerry Myles, whom he described as a braggart and the institution's worst homosexual.

The prison chaplain, Father Gerald J. Lynam, said that "no more than 15 or so of the inmates were leaders or sympathetically inclined to the revolt" which claimed the life of deputy warden Theodore Rothe, 40, at the start.

Reporters interviewed some of the prisoners in an effort to pinpoint the reason for uprising. Spokesmen for the inmates said they wanted reform of parole, the firing of the parole director Benjamin W. Wright, better hospital facilities, elimination of the disciplinary "hole" cell and other refinements.

PAROLE SYSTEM

The prisoners mentioned crowded conditions, the use of buckets for toilet facilities and the lack of segregation of young first offenders. There were other complaints, but each of the seven interviewed tagged the parole system as the No. 1 grievance.

Wright, the parole director, resigned Friday night while the riot was at a momentary stalemate. His dismissal was demanded by the legislature last month.

Dalai Lama Breaks Silence to Flay Reds

TEZPUR, India (AP)—The Dalai Lama says Red China violated its pledge of self-rule for Tibet, subjugated the Tibetans and killed or enslaved many Buddhist holy men.

He gave the lie Saturday to Peiping's assertions that he had been abducted by rebels.

It was the Tibetan god-king's first statement on recent events in his Himalayan land and his words were unexpectedly blunt.

Arriving by jeep in this northeast Indian city after his flight from Tibet, the Dalai Lama promptly denied Red China's statement that he had been abducted by rebels and forced into India.

"The Dalai Lama would like to state categorically he left Lhasa (the capital) and Tibet and came to India of his own free will and not under duress," the statement said.

The 23-year-old spiritual ruler of Tibet emphasized that he fled Lhasa March 17 only after the Chinese Communists attacked his summer palace with mortars.

At almost the same moment as the Dalai Lama's statement was being read, Premier Chou En-lai of Red China was repeating in Peiping that the god-king was carried off to India by reactionary elements.

Chou expressed hope that the Dalai Lama would return to Lhasa.

Kept Out —So Acts As Outlaw

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Professor Ronald Dore of the University of B.C. said Saturday the United States has kept Communist China out of the United Nations and should not be surprised that the country's behavior in international affairs has been that of an outlaw.

"A country of 600,000,000 people is a country of enormous importance," he told a seminar on United Nations affairs. "But it has been outlawed since 1951 from the UN."

NO MEANS

He said the reason that Communist China has been excluded is that the U.S. believes it should not be a member. Because the country is an outsider, there is no means whereby the UN can bring pressure to bear on it, he said.

"Is not her behavior the sort of thing to expect if she is treated as an outlaw?" he asked.

NARROW DISPARITY

Professor Dore said it is to be hoped that a solution of today's international problems can be found in narrowing the great disparity between standards of living. In Canada the average income is more than $1,300 a year, while in India it is less than $70 a year, he said.

Tory Minority Put on Spot By Liberal Senators' Move

OTTAWA (CP) — The government minority in the Senate has been put on the spot by the Liberal majority.

At issue is a motion proposed by Liberal Senator William Wall of Winnipeg that the Senate finance committee study the threat of inflation in Canada.

Eleven of the 74 Liberals in the chamber have spoken in support of the motion. However, the proposed study has been vigorously opposed by four of the 16 Progressive Conservatives, including government leader Walter Aseltine.

They have all stated that the Liberal Opposition is trying to embarrass the government at a time when it is attempting to control inflation. They also argue that responsibility for determining fiscal policy rests with the cabinet, not a Senate committee.

Senator Aseltine said the motion would turn the Senate into a "partisan, political body."
